INTRODUCTION:

The 1-2-3 pattern is most simple yet powerful strategy you'll ever find.
When to use 1-2-3 Pattern?

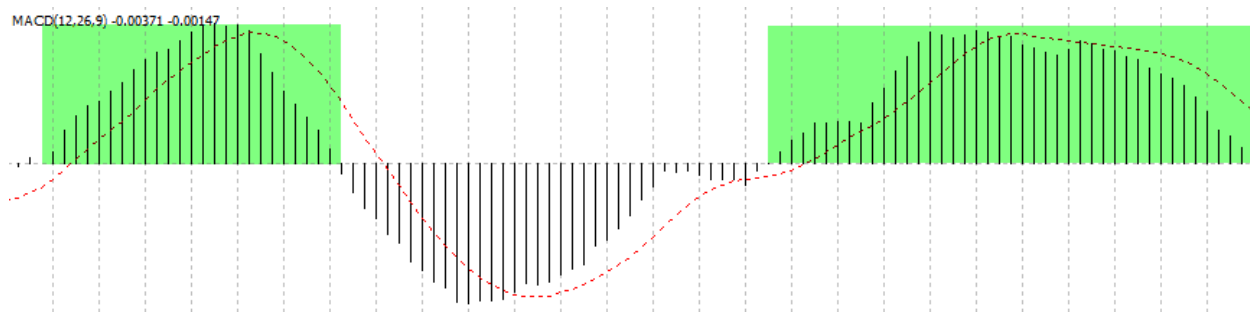

A: It works for any time.

The 1-2-3 pattern work best when the patterns follow the direction of trend (it also works against the trend). The pattern is also easy to identify on the chart and you can find it every day.

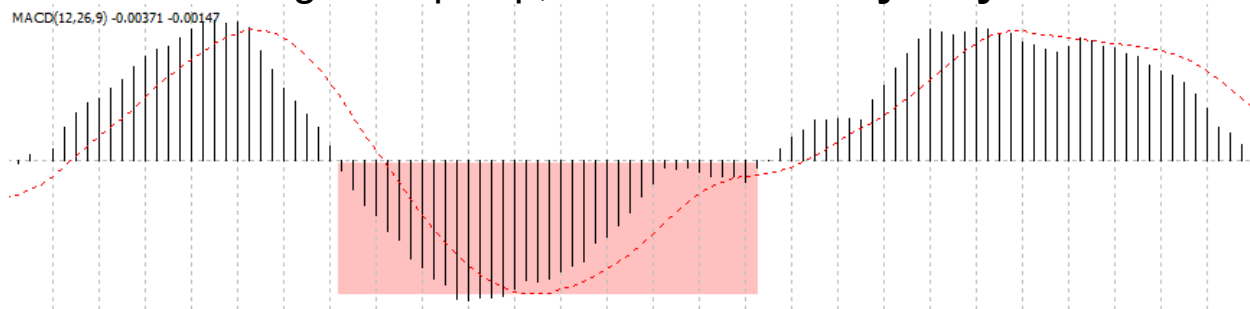

We're going to use MACD indicator as a combination to filter bad trades.

The basics of MACD:

When the histogram flips up, then look for buy only.

When the histogram flips down, then look for sell only.

THE METHOD:

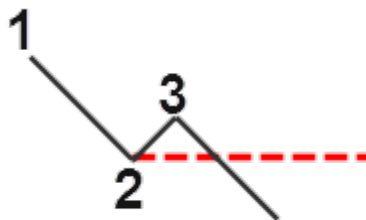

The 1-2-3 pattern in an uptrend

- 1- Existing trend
- 2- Higher high
- 3- Higher Low

Break out of 2(green line), results in strong continuation of price to up direction.

The 1-2-3 pattern on downtrend

- 1- Existing trend
- 2- Lower Low
- 3- Lower High

4- Break out of 2(red line), results in strong continuation of price to down direction.

It's not that complicated to learn this pattern. It takes a while to recognize and remember the pattern.

The setup divided into two parts:

- 1) Buy Setup
- 2) Sell Setup

The buy setup:

- 1) Make sure the MACD histogram is flipping up

- 2) Apply the 1-2-3 pattern.

- Set a pending order just 1-3 pip above the 2
- Stop loss on 3

More Examples for buy setup:

The Sell Setup:

- 1) Make sure the MACD histogram is flipping down.

- 2) Apply the 1-2-3 pattern.

- Set a pending order just 1-3 pip below/on the 2
- Stop loss on 3

More Examples

Profit Target discussion:

Count the pip range of A. Most of time, the Length of A=B. If the A=60 pip. B is also 60 pip.

THE METHOD IN A NUTSHELL:

So, here is a basic outline of what you'll be doing with this method:

- 1. Use MACD to find a good trade
2. Use 1-2-3 strategy as a trading trigger/signal.
